SUMMARY

Over the past three years, I've honed my skills in digital marketing, with a particular emphasis on search engine optimization (SEO) and paid advertising. I have a proven track record of improving website rankings through keyword research, on-page optimization, and link building. I'm experienced in using tools like Google Analytics and Google Search Console to monitor website performance and identify areas for improvement. In the realm of paid advertising, I've managed successful campaigns on platforms like Google Ads and [mention other platforms like Meta Ads, Google Ads], optimizing ad spend to achieve targeted ROI. I'm adept at creating compelling ad copy, targeting specific audiences, and analyzing campaign data to maximize conversions. I understand the importance of data-driven decision-making and am committed to delivering measurable results for clients.
